

SOUNDS A NEW POLITICALSLOGAN

President Roosevelt Talks at Logansport on the Tariff Question.

HE IS SENSATIONAL

Would Have a Bi-Partisan Commission to Investigate the Question.

IS VERY IMPORTANT

(Special Dr. Scripps-Mellae.)
Logansport, Ind., Sept. 23.—President Roosevelt this morning made the most sensational and most important speech of his northwestern trip thus far. His open declaration of tariff revision has been spread broadcast through the country but this morning he went even farther and said that his own personal preference was for a bipartisan commission to act upon it.

Admits Necessity
In his speech he admitted the necessity of a tariff revision and said that he personally advocated a complete revision of the present tariff. He suggested that a bi-partisan commission be appointed to consider the entire subject and to make a report on the conditions and remedies to the next congress.

Morgan Afraid
J. Pierpont Morgan is reported to have said that he is disgusted with the present action of the President on the tariff and that he will do all he can to defeat him for re-nomination.
Failing in this he will devote his energies to having the democrats nominate a man of the type of Grover Cleveland.

Continues Trip
The President and his party left Detroit this morning and arrived here at 7:45 after a one minute stop at Peru where the President did not show himself. Tomorrow the President will be entertained at Milwaukee at a dinner at which Senator Spooner, Governor LaFollette, and Postmaster General Payne will also be guests.

Exorbitant coal freight rates made by eastern railroads will probably be investigated by the interstate commerce commission. Commissioner Prouty said that a reduction could be ordered but not enforced.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 23.—The long controversy over the choosing of a warden for the State Prison at Waupun was settled today by the election of Henry D. Towne of this city. Mr.
Towne is manager for this district for the Singer Sewing Machine Co.
and has had some previous experience at Joliet, Ill., and Jackson, Mich.
The election was a surprise to people outside the board as Mr. Towne's name had not been heard among the candidates. The election was unanimous.

ASKS UNITED STATES TO REMOVE TROOPS

President Palma Makes Formal Request for Removal of American Soldiers From Cuba.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The government of the United States is to be required to terminate the last vestige of its authority in Cuba. The war department has been advised formally by the department of state that President Estrada Palma has notified Minister Squires that he desires the American troops remaining in Cuba to be withdrawn.

The state department does not undertake to pass on this request, but transmits it to Secretary Root, holding that the problem presented is purely a military one involving the competency of the new Cuban government to take over and care for the coast defenses now in American hands, and thus make sure that the country is not exposed without any military protection, to a possible foreign enemy. It is for Secretary Root to determine the question of fact and he is expected to base his conclusion on the opinion of United States military officers remaining in Cuba, though of course Minister Squires' opinion would be of weight.
Secretary Root, while he has not come to any conclusion, has indicated that the troops might be withdrawn.

New York, Sept. 23.—The self conhe arrived but no demonstration was made. The detectives aided by the police hustled the prisoner through a side entrance into a cab and he was taken to police headquarters.

Very Nervous
Young appeared very nervous when he alighted from the train and received the crowd fervently, as if expecting violence. He passed a sleepless night, guarded by two policemen as it was feared that he might commit suicide. His manner, until he admitted who he was, was that of a man verging on nervous prostration and fears for his sanity were felt.

Implicates Another
In his confession to the police Young implicated another man and gave his address and usual haunts.
The trunk was found to contain his clothing and part of the dead woman's apparel, also a bag of cookies she had bought for her husband.

SIGNATORY POWERS

Government to Continue Persecution of Jews Until That Country Is Rid of Them.

London, Sept. 23.—There is little doubt that the Roumanians have resolved to accept the consequence of setting at defiance the signatory powers and the public opinion of the civilized world and to continue the persecution of the Jews in order to compel them to seek asylum abroad. The Roumanian Bulletin, which appears periodically in London, with the object of making public the facts in regard to the persecution of the Jews in that country, will print next Fri-

Canterbury, the bishop of London, Sir al).—Representative Newlands of Nevada, who is making a campaign for the senate, suggests that the dem-organized labor. He says: "I believe it should be the policy of the Democratic party to co-operate with and seek the support of these great organizations, and thus make itself what it has always claimed to be—the party of the people."

clared that his son Herbert, editor of the San Juan News in Porto Rico, has been unjustly imprisoned.

A mad dog which has bitten half a dozen people and at least fifty dogs is at Hartford, and the city is in the midst of a reign of terror.

lies in a critical condition, was ar-who has charged her neighbors with imaginary crimes, such as firing of guns at her for being an A. P. A., was taken to the home of the feeble minded at Chippewa Falls.

Two cows owned near Appleton died from hydrophobia, and others in the herd were affected the same way. The origin of the disease is a mystery, as there is no evidence that the cattle were bitten by a rabid dog.

MEETS GEN. BRYANT

(Special A. D. Dispatch.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23.—It is stated on good authority that Governor LaFollette and Senator Spooner will meet tomorrow at the dinner given by the citizens of Milwaukee to President Roosevelt and party at the Pilsner hotel. While the whereabouts of the governor are not yet made public it is asserted on good authority that he will be in Milwaukee in time for the banquet. It is known that Senator Spooner will be present.

Preparing Speeches
It is also stated by those high in the confidences of the governor that he has not been ill or under the care of a physician but simply in the retirement of some quiet place where he has been making ready his speeches for the coming fall campaign. It is said also that he is in the best of health and is ready for a long hard campaign on the stump.

Spooner Ready
Senator Spooner is still at Madison but will come into Milwaukee Wednesday to meet his President and consult with leaders of Wisconsin politicians. He is ready for his speech making but has not yet decided where he will start. He has not yet received the letter of invitation sent him but is making his plans regardless of it.

Meets Bryant
Senator Spooner and General Bryant met informally last night and later in the week the two will have a conference in Milwaukee over the state situation. Their conversation was merely commonplace and did not apparently have any reference to the United States senatorship. The senator is most touched at the devotion shown him by his supporters.

CITIZENS OF GERMANY DEMAND AMERICAN MEAT

Government, However, Refuses to Modify the Stringent Rules Against Its Importation.

Washington, Sept. 23.—An alarming increase in the price of meat in Germany has brought forth numerous appeals from German municipal and other bodies for the suspension of the stringent rules prohibiting the importation of live cattle into the empire from abroad. The state department has made public a communication from Mr. Jackson, secretary of the American embassy at Berlin, dated Sept.
5, saying that the government's answer to the various appeals had been refused "on sanitary grounds."

"The headline 'Fleischnot' (scarcity of meat), says Mr. Jackson, 'is one now seen in almost every issue of almost every newspaper, and the demand for more freedom of importation of live hogs is increasing daily. The newspapers call attention to the fact

NOMINEE ROSE SPEAKS TO MANY

LARGE AUDIENCE AT THE MYERS OPERA HOUSE.

ABLY PORTRAYS CAMPAIGN

Milwaukee's Mayor States Facts in a Convincing and Very Creditable Manner.

Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee, the democratic nominee for governor, made his seventh address for Monday before several hundred citizens of Janesville, at the Opera house, last evening. Equalization of taxation, the fallacies of the election law as exemplified in the Stevens bill, the abolition of game wardens, and other superfluous officials, and his own qualifications for gubernatorial honors were the themes of his speech. Thoughtful and careful attention characterized the attitude of the audience towards Milwaukee's mayor, rather than outbursts of wild and unrestrained enthusiasm, although generous applause greeted many of his sentiments. In Mr. Rose's remarks dwelling upon the faults of the present administration, Mr. Rose was scathing in the extreme, charging Robert La Follette with treachery, doublefacedness and the instigator of discord and tumult.

Escorted From Depot
At about 6:40 the special train carrying Mayor Rose and his party arrived in the city on the C. & N. W. railroad and was sidetracked at the station. During the interval between that hour and the time of the evening meeting, members of prominent local politicians visited Mr. Rose in the car, while the Imperial band on the platform outside attracted numbers by its music. Shortly after eight o'clock the mayor and his party were taken from the depot to the opera house escorted by the band. Many lined the streets, to obtain a glimpse of the would-be governor, but aside from a few displays of colored fire there was nothing resembling an ovation to the Milwaukeean.

Presented To Audience
Arriving at the opera house Mr. Rose was presented to the audience by Dr. J. H. Whiting, who said briefly that he had often been called upon to introduce distinguished guests, but that there were cases when he found the guest so well known that remarks on his part were superfluous. With that he simply announced "the Democratic candidate for governor, David S. Rose."

Among those seated on the stage besides Mr. Rose and Dr. Whiting, were I. F. Connors, P. J. Mount, O. A. Oestreich, T. C. Burpee, Edward Hemming, E. F. Woods, J. J. Cunningham, William Tripp of the town of Rock, R. M. Richmond of Evansville, G. E. Vandercok and Robert Rose of Milwaukee, and several representatives of Milwaukee and local newspapers.

His Appearance
Mr. Rose was simply attired. A dark double breasted coat, a negligee shirt and four-in-hand, were sufficiently elaborate to meet his requirements. In speaking, his delivery was that of a man who sought to spare himself any unnecessary exertion, as he has good need to in the stress of his daily exertions. His power was in his ability to lay open his opponent to ridicule or half veiled sarcasm. Now and then he came out openly in fierce invective, but more often he employed the wily insinuating expressions, which have marked his campaign addresses.

Purposes of Government
In opening his address Mayor Rose had recourse to a general statement of the objects of government, and the qualities which characterize a successful government, and an efficient executive. Leading on from this he made the statement that in the past two years the government of the state had not accomplished its purpose. Constant dissatisfaction, turmoil, and factional strife had abounded, and for all of this the present incumbent of the gubernatorial chair had been responsible.

From this, the speaker led on to a general history of Mr. La Follette's political career, accusing him of opposing himself to the party, denouncing and defiling its leaders, and appealing to passion and prejudice, rather than to deliberate judgment. The speaker called upon the executive to reconcile his words before election and his action after. At one time in his address he referred to the administration of the last two years as a usurpation of power such as has been exhibited but once before. "And that man paid the penalty at St. Helena. Where La Follette will find his punishment God only knows." (Applause.)

Rock County Taxes
In discussing the equalization of taxes Mayor Rose took occasion to present some figures to illustrate the increase in taxes during the period of Control of Robert La Follette. In Rock county the state tax had been increased from $29,851.07 to $19,791.06, and "this in the name of equalization of taxes and La Follette reform." (Generous applause). I don't know what sort of a dose they have cooked up for us next year.

Charges Against La Follette
Five definite charges were made against La Follette. First, an enormous and unnecessary increase in taxes; second, an enormous and unnecessary increase in assessment; third, a double tax; fourth, a high rate of interest; and fifth, inequality in the taxes when equality would injure his personal interest. The last accusation met generous applause. "What more can be expected in the next two years? It is up to you. Deal with it."

Buckstaff Charges
An opportunity for a scathing denouncement of the governor and his lieutenants was given the speaker by the Buckstaff charges. In these his powers of sarcasm and insinuation were employed to the extreme. All of the details of the accusation were slowly and tellingly enumerated, and of the action which the state central committee took in regard to the matter. An eulogy of Harvey, and a charge against La Follette of selling the highest educational office in the state, closed his remarks on this point. "Ar'n't you proud of it, my La Follette man?" he ended and laughing applause greeted the query. "With one hand upheld towards the heavens he proclaimed himself a reformer, while with the other he jingled the coin."

No Republican Convention
Among his remarks on the tyrannical attitude taken by the governor Mr. Rose said that there had been no republican convention this year, unless it could be said that the game wardens and other superfluous officers, who filled the duties of their positions by packing the caucuses, made up the republican party. "I want to see the people of my state and my country patriots before partisans."

His Record
After disposing briefly of the primary election law as doing away with the power of general meeting and discussion on political questions, Mr. Rose took up his own qualifications as a candidate for governor. He simply pointed to the record of his mayoralty in Milwaukee. Many needed and expensive improvements, had been made, he said, the tax rate had been lowered, and the city debt diminished, while his own re-election had each year been brought about by a greater plurality. "If I were governor I should try to do for the state of my birth what I have tried to do for the city I love so dearly."

ENCAMPMENT OF ODD FELLOWS SOON

ARE TO MEET AT BARABOO

Many from This City Are Planning to Attend the Session in October.

It is very probable that this city will be well represented at the coming meeting of the Grand Encampment of Independent Order of Odd Fellows to be held in Baraboo on Tuesday and Wednesday, the fourth and fifth of October. J. F. Hutchinson, of this city, is grand patriarch of the grand encampment of Wisconsin and James A. Fathers is the grand treasurer.

Several Will Attend
These officers, of course, expect to be present during the sessions of the grand encampment and Rock River Encampment No. 3 will be represented by Leslie Holmes and F. J. Clifton as its delegates. During the session of the grand encampment there will also be held a department council of the Patriarchs Militant, of which Charles W. Schwartz, of this city, is the vice president. One of the features held in connection with this department council will be a competitive drill between teams representing several cantons in the state.

Local Team May Enter
Although Janesville Canton No. 9, Patriarchs Militant has not yet entered a team in the competition, it is understood that there is more than a possibility that such an event will take place. Consistent drilling has been carried on for some time with this idea in view and unless something unforeseen occurs it is safe to predict a detachment from Janesville Canton will be among the competing teams at Baraboo. The minimum team which can enter includes twelve chevaliers and three officers while twenty-four chevaliers and the officers makes up the maximum.

THE JANESVILLE MACHINE CO. WINS

THEIR PLOWS LEAD CONTEST AND TAKE FIRST PRIZE

AT ANNUAL PLOWING MATCH

Held at Wheatland, Illinois, During the Past Week—Contests Held Yearly Since 1877.

At Wheatland, Ill., not far from Aurora, there is annually held a plowing match which attracts a great deal of attention from manufacturers of plows. This year in two of the contests it fell to the lot of the Janesville Machine company to enter plows of such merit as to win the first prizes in both. A first premium was awarded them in the Riding Plow contest, open to boys under fifteen years of age, and the sweepstakes in the prize winners' class.

Historic Custom
In 1877, the first plowing match was held in Wheatland, the contestants being in a large part men who had participated in similar contests in Scotland and England. In those days the equipment consisted of an old fashioned plow and an ox team, but the development of the annual contest has gone on until now the leading plow manufacturers of the country are yearly represented in the match.

Local Plows Win
This year among the contestants the Janesville Machine company easily stood out among them all, carrying off two of the first premiums against a large field of competitors. The contest this year was held last Saturday on a farm near Normantown in Wheatland township. In the riding plow contest open to boys under fifteen years of age a thirteen year old boy handled one of the Janesville plows and won the first premium. In the Prize Winners' Class, open to all persons who had taken a first premium in any class, previous to 1902, the sweepstakes were captured by the local plows.

Severe Tests
In the contests the following points were taken into consideration in judging the plowing and plows: quality of work, ease of handling, and durability. Manager J. A. Craig was present as the representative of the Janesville Machine company.

Now Held Cup
This makes the third year in which the Janesville Machine company has carried off the latter prize, and this makes the cup the property of the concern. According to the conditions of the contest the prize must have been won once before contesting in the prize winners' class, and in that class it must be won two consecutive years before permanent possession of the prize is given.

WITH THE ATHLETES.
According to Coach Knipe, Ochiltree, of the Iowa State University squad, is the best built man on the western gridiron.

Hall and Dickey, the two men who "jumped" Chicago to go to Ann Arbor have gone to their homes to attempt to secure their parents' consent to the change.

Coach Stagg has expressed himself as well pleased with the progress made by the Midwayites, and showed no worry over the fact that the Lombard boys scored on them Saturday.

Coach King has bemoaned the paucity of heavy men on the University of Wisconsin squad, but from the new arrivals each day that fault bids fair to be shortly done away with.

Purdue prospects look dubious owing to the necessity of developing a new quarter, center and full back this season. Snap and dash has been shown by the available men.

On Wednesday the local high school material will be put through their first signal line-up training. The men who are now out have much room for improvement in the work that has already been set before them.

Northwestern rooters were enthusiastic over the fact that their men on Saturday made a better showing against the Ft. Sheridan soldiers than a year ago, and that the team will be probably improved and strengthened fifty per cent. before the next game.

As the base ball season is drawing to a close the American base ball association reports are of the most glowing character, although the prediction was widely made that an "outlaw" organization would amount to little. Financially every team has more than come out even.

Theodore F. Hilton of Evanston, while playing with the Wilmettes, in a game against the North-Western railway office employees, was the victim of the first serious accident of the season. He sustained a severe compound fracture of the collar bone and other injuries, and will be laid up for some time to come.

At a conference held at Chicago several days ago Everts Wrenn and Louis Hinkey were agreed upon as the officials of the Michigan-Wisconsin game to be held in Chicago November 1, and commonly looked upon as the critical contest of the year. Word has been received from both men saying that they will serve.

For three or four days Coach Norris has had the local high school men out in suits on preliminary work in handling the pig skin. From twenty to twenty-five men have reported each evening, but the work has not yet been of such a character as to show what there is in them. The first game comes a week from Saturday at Whitewater against the high school of that city. On the 14th comes the first home game against Beloit and on the 18th Ft. Atkinson is to be played at Ft. Atkinson.

Mrs. Frank Blodgett is in Chicago for a few days.

MRS. EGAN WINS HER LAW SUIT

She Secures Damages from Edward Klee in Justice Reeder's Court.

For some unknown reason Edward Klee failed to appear in Justice Reeder's court yesterday morning to answer to the stone throwing charges which his neighbor, Mrs. Catherine Egan had made against him.

He was represented by his attorneys, Fethers, Jeffris & Mount. Mrs. Egan, her attorney, Ralph Adair, and a host of neighbors were out in full force, aided by an exhibit of brickbats, cobblestones and rocks, which the late Klee was alleged to have hurled at the Egan house. After hearing the complaint of Mrs. Egan and calling upon the witnesses for testimony his honor gave judgment for the plaintiff for twenty-five dollars and costs.

Used Strong Language
At times the evidence given was little short of sensational. The collection of stones in connection with Mrs. Egan's statements that they had been directed at her home and herself by Klee, gave eloquent though silent testimony. Each of the ten neighbors bore witness to the abuses to which Mrs. Egan had been subjected. According to the plaintiff, on the night when she alleges that she caught Klee in the act, she stated that she fired her revolver into the air to frighten him and "hollered" at him: "You dirty old rascal. I have got you now where the hair is short. You are the man who has been throwing stones all of the week." It is probable that Mrs. Egan will begin suit against Klee on a criminal charge, using this justice court verdict as evidence against him.

WAS HE A HERO?

Jack Ward was not a bad fellow at heart but was what charitable people call unfortunate. Jack's family was one of the oldest in the grand old Keystone state, his ancestors had been among the men who early guided the wavering footsteps of the nation and had shed their blood for the thirteen colonies might be free and independent. Jack's father was the last of the race and in his son's boyhood had looked with pleasure to the day when his son should be able to take his place among men.

Jack's mother had died when he was but a boy and as the years at school and the constant absence from his father increased he had become more accustomed to fear than to confidence in the one parent left him. Mr. Ward made no advances toward drawing his boy's confidence to him and Jack rather hid his boyish troubles than tell them to his father.

He had one cousin, a pretty girl whom he idolized and early in his life had been told that when he became a man he was to marry his cousin Marion. Marion, too, liked her boy cousin as she called him and to her Jack told all his troubles.

Mr. Ward became tired of single life and when Jack was twenty had brought home a young wife with whom Jack had danced at his college parties and known as a gay, frivolous flirt. It was hard to see his mother's place taken by any woman, harder still to see the woman his father had chosen as a wife put at the head of the table to daily sow seeds of discord between father and son.

Jack was high tempered and resented his father's action so when he was sent home from college disgraced for some boyish prank he found his father ready to close the doors of his own home on him at the instigation of his wife who resented the slighting manner he had treated her. Hot words followed between father and son and Jack packed his trunk and left his father in a white rage before he had been home a day vowing never to see him again. Nor did he even come then for he was refused even a word with his cousin Marion and left his native town, Philadelphia to wander he knew not whither.

Never having wanted for money, his little hoard was soon gone and one morning in Denver he woke to find himself without a cent to buy his daily bread. He had tried mining, tried clerking, tried everything he found a chance to do without success. No word had he received from home since he left it a year before, nor even from Marion to whom he had written. How was he to know poor boy, that his letter had never reached her, that a scheming mother and step mother had planned a far different end for her than she should marry a beggar. Nor was he expected to know how his fair cousin had grieved at not hearing from him. He believed himself forsaken and cast off as an outcast.

Food he must have and with his stomach knowing for food he stood before the recruiting officer and swore allegiance to the flag for three years for $13 a month and clothes and food thrown in. Off he marched with a dozen more men and took up his life in the garrison life of his regiment. Once he had received commendation for his action in a fire that had broken out at night in the barracks but otherwise his life was the same day to day.

Rumors were rife of war with Spain and one fine morning orders were issued from Washington ordering Jack's regiment to the coast. The long journey across the continent was taken, supplies issued, equipments looked over and in June the regiment found itself on Cuban shore preparing to drive the white Spaniard from his seemingly impregnable stronghold on the top of San Juan hill. Jack had passed through the months of waiting as one in a dream and as he stood there that June morning he scarcely realized that he was but a spoke in the great wheel which the United States was bringing to bear on their enemy. His recollection of the fight that followed, his remembrance of the glorious charge his regiment made, or of his seizing the flag when the color sergeant had been shot down and carrying it until too weak to go further, for he himself had a gaping wound in his side, were but as a dream.

All he remembered was seeing his lieutenant fall, a boy just from the Point who had treated him more like a gentleman than he had been treated since he left home, and his crawling on his side and trying to stop the blood which would persist in flowing from the wound the cruel mauler bullet had made in his shoulder. How he did it he never knew, but on their march up the hill he remembered seeing a hospital tent being put up miles in their rear and to this he staggered with the wounded officer in his arms.

For weeks he lay between life and death with men dying around him daily and then when well enough to be moved he had been carried aboard a transport and taken north. The hospitals in New York had long been full but Philadelphia had thrown open her doors to sick and wounded and thither he was borne and placed in the care of the doctors and nurses of St. Timothy's at the heights of the shore overlooking the placid Schuylkill, way up with nothing but his thoughts for company he remembered his days at his father's summer home but a few miles from where he was, of his cousin Marion and how the tallest tree was but a pleasure to climb should she desire a coveted bird's egg.

As the days lengthened and he became stronger, could sit up, he was told that as soon as he was able to be moved he was to go to a country home of a kind family who had thrown their doors open to the sick and wounded heroes of the nation. The day came and he was carried to a large carriage and prepped amid pillows he was driven along the familiar roads until he started as the carriage turned into the roadway of his father's home. Could he believe it, he going home, no it was some dream. There on the steps was his own lieutenant whom he had last seen on that bloody day in Cuba.

The greeting was as between man and man, not as of soldier to officer and then the officer lead up a sweet-faced lady whom he introduced as mother and as she bent over and kissed him Jack thought of his own mother and in his weakness cried as he had never done even under the doctor's knife. He was gathered into to strong arms and was carried into the house, down the long hall to his own boyhood room. Here they found him sobbing like a child when his new nurse came with his lieutenant to see her patient. As he faintly tried to excuse towards them he turned his face towards them and stopped for there was his cousin Marion and in the door stood his father, with a saddened face. His words died on his lips and he only heard Marion's cry of joy as she sprang forward and his father's trembling call "My son! My son!"

How he grew better and how through tender nursing of Marion and his father, how everything was explained and how two months later the wedding bells rang out as Jack with his new uniform of second lieutenant and his old lieutenant by his side led his blushing cousin to the altar are simple facts. For influence had been used and Jack was to command where he had been commanded and in the Philippines to add new luster to the name of Ward. His father had insisted on the marriage at once and had tried to dissuade his son from the army but Jack had stoutly said that when he had no friends the government had clothed and fed him and now that he was needed he could not repay the goodness by ingratitude.

"Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels," Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels has several head line features, but the stellar attractions upon which they lay chief stress this season, are George Wilson, the brightest jewel in the crown of minstrelsy, the most famous minstrel on the American stage; George Morgan, the phenomenal male contralto, recently engaged from Moore & Burgess, of St. James Hall, London, England.

Mr. Wilson's fame is too well established to require anything further than the mention of his presence, but of Mr. Morgan, it may be said that he possesses a voice to which the somewhat hackneyed adjective "phenomenal" may be aptly applied. It is a pure contralto, the range being in B flat alto, or nearly an octave higher than the high C which tenors strive to reach. For several years, Mr. Morgan has been the featured soloist of Moore & Burgess' Minstrels, of London, England; also The Carl Dammann troupe, seven in the number; the world's most phenomenal troupe of agile, elegant and powerful acrobats in wondrous feats, performed by them alone.

A Modern Magdalen
No manager has ever focused the fierce white lights of publicity so quickly upon their plans as has Amelia Blingham, and the hearty response accorded her artistic endeavors by the public since her first essay as manager would indicate that theatergoers appreciate intelligent direction in presenting the best dramatic stock company now assembled together for the production of "A Modern Magdalen." It is enough to add at this juncture, that Miss Blingham combines daring with apparent conservative methods, and the large salaries commanded by the artists together with the generous outlay made by her productions and all the accessories that go to make a perfect ensemble stamp her as a manager who has a higher purpose than the mere getting of dollars.

A FATAL MISTAKE!
Is Often Made By the Wisest of Janesville People.

It's a fatal mistake to neglect backache.

Backache is the first symptom of kidney ills.

Serious complications follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them promptly.

Don't delay until too late.

Until it becomes diabetes—Bright's disease.

Read what a Janesville citizen says:

Mrs. N. J. Casey, of 100 Prairie Ave. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved better than any other medicines I took for my kidneys. These organs troubled me off and on for some years. Backache was the chief symptom and often caused me to suffer severely. I tried a number of remedies but continued to grow worse instead of better. I was finally persuaded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the Peoples' Drug Co's. store. I only took them a few days when I felt better. Should there be any recurrence of my trouble I now know what to use."

THE MONEY STRINGENCY.

The money market just at present is a little peculiar. Wall street is cramped for ready funds for legitimate demands, and while there is no danger of a panic more or less inconvenience will result.

Mr. Bryan finds in existing conditions an object lesson for the discussion of free silver, which he regards as a panacea for all the ills of life. He can find a better solution nearer home. Nebraska has a corn crop of 200,000,000 bushels, ready to harvest, and Kansas has about the same amount, with enough apples thrown in for small change. The crops throughout the west were never better, and when they begin to move, there will be more money in circulation than at any time in the history of the country.

Corn and other cereals are always a good collateral and while it takes currency to handle them there is seldom much trouble in finding it when times are good.

During the last panic, when all kinds of business was depressed, and confidence destroyed, it was easy to account for stringency in money. People were afraid of the banks, and millions of dollars were hid away in stockings and buried in places of safety. This same money today, with many millions added to it has been deposited in rat holes, where it will never see the light of day. Wall street is depressed but it has been the leading market on this class of wild cat securities. The country has been crazy wild on speculation during the past two years, and money for all sorts of ventures has been as free as water.

Money has been taken out of banks, not through fear, but because of overconfidence, and as a people the ambition to get rich quick has prevailed in epidemic form. Wall street has encouraged these ventures, and very naturally suffers in consequence. While the panic was bad, it has been discovered that money was safer in the stocking than in the rat-hole, but in many cases the discovery came too late.

The spirit of speculation was by no means confined to Wall street. There are thousands of business men all over the country who would be out of debt, with a good bank account and money to loan, but for outside ventures of uncertain value.

Abundant crops and continued prosperity will help to make the losses good, but it is well to remember that the average business man can not afford to speculate.

NICHOLAS SMITH ON HARVEY.
Colonel Nicholas Smith, for many years editor of the Gazette, recently published in the Milwaukee Sentinel a communication on Supt. Harvey, in which he takes occasion to condense the history of the man and his very efficient work.

After stating at some length the efforts made by Mr. Harvey for the betterment of the common schools, Mr. Smith closes his article as follows:

"At the suggestion of Mr. Harvey the last legislature made provisions for the establishment of state graded schools. Under this law, 117 schools of the first class were organized, and 178 of the second class. A course of study was issued for these schools by Superintendent Harvey, and the work in all of them has been thoroughly inspected. This uniform course of study and the necessity of a better grade of teachers has materially enhanced the efficiency of the state schools, making them models for all graded schools in the vicinity."

"It is true that educators in other states, from Maine to California, are watching with deep interest some of the experiments which are being tried in Wisconsin. They are ready to believe that the two problems—the county normals and the county agricultural schools—will be solved. If they are not disappointed and the signs point that they will not be, Wisconsin will be credited with inaugurating one of the most important movements that has ever been made in the educational world, and to Mr.

Harvey's clear head, his executive ability and experience as a teacher of teachers, as well as a school man who knows intimately every grade from the country district school to the university, is due much of that success.

"Surely a very large majority of Wisconsin voters, regardless of party affiliation will consider it no small wonder that just at the time when Superintendent Harvey can be of most service in carrying forward a great work along the lines of which he himself drew he is thrown out and his place offered to a man who has no special training and experience to qualify him to manage successfully the large and important educational interests of the state."

The people of the state, as well as Mr. Smith, have been asking the question, "why was the outrage permitted?" and the only answer which is far from satisfactory comes back in a reform echo.

THE GODDESS OF REFORM

There are more people today, who are worshipping at the shrine of impractical reform, than at any time in the history of the nation. This epidemic has spread to the independent book companies, and Mr. Kronshage, the governor's lieutenant in Milwaukee informs the public, that these virtuous corporations went down in their pockets for $2000 to help the cause along in Wisconsin.

According to the Milwaukee scribe, these companies had so much regard for the Badger state's reform governor, that they cheerfully contributed good money to his campaign. They were not aware that a state superintendent was to be elected as nothing was said about it. The virtue of some people is tiresome. They learn the wrong way. The book companies appear to belong to this class. They force their sticks into the campaign without regard to consequences. It is to be regretted that Mr. Kronshage was not more explicit in his statements to the book companies; had they known that Supt. Harvey was likely to be bounced, it might have been possible to secure $5,000 as readily as $2,000. Mr. Kronshage is not a good financial agent.

WHO IS MR. ROGERS?

In Mr. Kronshage's defense against the charges made by Messrs. Stout and Buckstaff, he said that he did not send any money to Governor La Follette, but transacted his business with Mr. Rogers. The inference would naturally be that Mr. Rogers was a disinterested party acting on his own account and without the knowledge or consent of the governor.

This all appears very innocent on the surface, but the public will be interested to know that Mr. Rogers is the governor's chief executive clerk and for a long time a member of his household. Mr. Rogers stands next to the private secretary in his relations to the governor. If he received $1500 from Mr. Kronshage for campaign purposes he received it in the capacity of an employee. The inference, in this respect, is more transparent than blue sky, and does not merit attention on the part of Messrs. Stout and Buckstaff.

NOT A VOTE MAKER

The address of Mayor Rose at the Opera House last evening consisted largely of a statement of facts concerning his opponent. The history is of such recent date that it was familiar to his audience and it is doubtful if its repetition succeeded in making any votes for the democratic party. An intelligent discussion of the issues of the campaign would have been more convincing.

The people would have been interested in the question of taxation, and they are anxious to know just what policy of the democratic party would pursue if given the opportunity.

While more or less dissatisfaction exists in the republican party, there is but little inclination to turn the state over to democracy.

Mayor Rose is a good talker and very popular in Milwaukee, but it is doubtful as to whether he is making any votes for himself or his ticket by the methods pursued in his campaign.

of date these days. Will the local car company take the hint and send their summer cars into winter quarters by putting the windows in them? Last spring they were weeks late in taking the windows out now they are the same thing in putting them in.

Those thieves who robbed the electric company of their hard earned $30 and then left it all to help out the Pearl Button company were Samaritans to say the least.

Mr. Kronshage has his head under cover, and imagines that he is out of sight. He has adopted the governor's tactics but they won't work.

What an innocent lot of dubs the independent book companies are anyway. They should apply for a guardian.

Supt. Harvey needs no defence at the hands of his party or his friends. His record is an open book, of which any man might well be proud.

The man who engineered the bicycle trick rider on the streets yesterday, should take a few lessons in finance of Mr. Kronshage.

Soft coal gives many ladies a chance to smoke up without half trying. Particularly when they wear a light dress for a dress occasion.

"Bob" the silent is still in obscurity and Uncle Ike is telegraphing him to come back home.

The question is where is La Follette and where has he been.

"When thieves fall out then let wise men beware."

MORE BURGLARS ARE AT WORK

ELECTRIC COMPANY'S OFFICE AND LIBRARY BROKEN INTO.

THE ROBBERS USED JIMMIES

They Did Not Secure Any Money Nor Take Away Any Plunder.

Janesville seems to be holding a carnival of burglaries just at present. Last Friday night the safe at the Janesville Street Ry Co's. power house was blown open and the office of the Janesville Pearl Button Co's plant entered and their safe put in such shape that the door was ruined to get rid of the nitro-glycerine with which it was loaded. Saturday night the Elk saloon on North Main street was burglarized and last night the office of the Janesville Electric company and the public library were entered by thieves.

It is almost certain that the same parties are not responsible for all of these burglaries. It might be that the parties that entered the Elk saloon and those that did the work last night are the same, but the safe blowers were a different crowd.

Notify Police
This morning Thomas Cassidy, the janitor at the Phoenix block reported to Chief Hogan that during the night thieves entered the office of the Janesville Electric Light Co., and the public library.

The chief at once investigated the case and found that the statement was true. Although the thieves succeeded in gaining an entrance to both places they did not secure a cent for their troubles.

Used Tools
A chisel or a jimmy was placed under the lower sash which was pried up until the catch was pried off allowing the window to be raised. This gave them an easy entrance to the office. All the desks and drawers in the rooms were ransacked, but nothing of value was secured. No attention was paid to the safe and as there was very little money in it the thieves would have secured nothing if they had blown it open.

Force Bolts
The entrance to the public library was gained by the way of a door that opens into a hall leading to the rear of the block. The door was locked with a small bolt and the catch holding this was easily forced off by the use of the jimmy. They visited the librarian's desk in the office, but found nothing but a few papers, the money having been removed by the librarian the night before.

They also visited the children's department of the library on the third floor. The doors to this department were not locked and were left standing open when the thieves left.

May Be Locals
Chief Hogan thinks that the job last night was done by parties residing in this city. The work looks very much like that of amateurs and people acquainted with the building.

Police Watched
The chief was on Milwaukee street until twelve o'clock last evening and Officer Brown was around the First National Bank corner until almost one o'clock. Up to that time everything was quiet and no suspicious characters had shown around the street. A close watch is being kept on the actions of several people and something is liable to come up at almost any time and there will be a surprise party for some when it does.

WELCOME BRIDE AND GROOM

Family Party is Held at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Horne. On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Horne, of the town of Janesville, entertained a party of relatives at their pleasant country home. The gathering was in honor of C. U. Horne, son of the host and hostess, and his bride, formerly Miss Irma B. Shaw, their marriage having been celebrated in Evansville by Rev. Sewell on the seventeenth of last July. The groom, in whose honor the family party was given, is an industrious young farmer of irreproachable habits while his bride is well-known and highly respected throughout the county, having taught school for several terms. The young people have the congratulations and the best wishes of a host of friends.

Sister Mary Elizabeth
Sister Mary Elizabeth Kennedy of St. Joseph's convent of this city, passed away last evening at six o'clock after an extended illness of many years duration. The deceased was born at Killeen, County Tipperary, Ireland and has been a member of the order of mercy for 16 years and was highly respected by all who knew her. The funeral will be held tomorrow at ten o'clock from St. Patrick's church.

Warm Church With Oil
Kerosene will be utilized this winter to warm Christ church. H. I. Gould, who sells the Champion oil burner, has placed one of these famous burners in the church furnace at a total cost of $12. The cost of fuel is but a trifle compared to coal or wood. Mr. Gould is also placing many of these burners in coal and wood stoves there being seven different coal sizes ranging in price from $7 to $12. For furnace an excellent size is sold at $8. Mr. Gould's office is with Walter Helms on South Main street.

Make It Junk. A. Benes, the River street junk dealer, has purchased all the machinery in the lower cotton mill and will remove and convert it into junk. He also purchased the machinery in the upper mill and has converted it into junk.

BICKEL-GALLUP CASE IS ENDED

John Gallup Fails to Appear in Court to Press the Charges

He Made.
The criminal proceedings against Thomas Bickel and Louie Gallup came to a sudden ending in the municipal court this morning. It all came about by the non-appearance of John B. Gallup, the complaining witness in court, when the case was called at ten o'clock this morning. As there was no one to prosecute the parties the action had to be dismissed. The case was adjourned last week on account of Gallup not being in court, although he was known to be in the city.

Case Dismissed
This morning when the case was called District Attorney Jackson stated to the court that the prosecuting witness was not present and he could not proceed. He asked the court to tax the costs of the action against the complainant, but Judge Fifield, although he would like to have done it, could not see his way clear under the statutes. There is one thing certain, that Mr. Gallup will get very little comfort from the courts should he try to make another complaint.

Injunction No Good

The injunction granted by the court commissioner, Carpenter, has very little effect on the couple. The injunction restrains them from speaking to each other or Bickel from having anything to do with Mrs. Gallup by word or deed or through any agent.

Couple Happy
When the case against the couple was dismissed this morning they were very chummy with each other and laughed and talked about the case and finally left the court room together. It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Gallup have patched up their difficulties and have gone to living together again. It was for this reason that Gallup did not appear in court this morning.

IS BELOIT'S FAIR SUCH A SUCCESS?

A CORRESPONDENT SAYS SHOWS ARE OBJECTIONABLE.

CITIZENS KICK ABOUT STREETS

Mayor Smith Answers All Complaints with Great Firmness and Decision.

When the tents of the Beloit carnival and Jahrmarkt Co. were first pitched in the main streets, prompt objection was made by several business men. It was a serious matter to shut off the passage of the principal streets of a city which is arranged as Beloit is. But Mayor Smith was determined that the carnival should be first this week, and all else subordinate, and he administered a telling rebuke, the outcome of which is yet to be learned.

Signed Petition
Some weeks ago nearly every business man in the city signed a petition to the council that the carnival company be granted the use of the streets. Many of these same men have now turned fault finders, and so the mayor has ordered the petition with the names of the signers published. It is believed that the objections will cease.

Objectionable Shows
For some reason the Beloit correspondent of the Milwaukee Free Press has seen fit to leave the ranks of the enthusiastic supporters of the street fair and says of it: "The shows are all of an objectionable character. If this is the case it is almost certain that Beloit people will take a different attitude toward their carnival, from that of the enthusiastic support which was given it when it was still an event to be looked forward to."

Janesville Lights
At the last moment it was found that the Beloit Electric Co. was unable to provide the electric lights necessary to illuminate the streets and it was found necessary to call on the Janesville Electric company. The same system of lighting is used as was employed in this city during the carnival.

Almost Drowned
Color was lent to the events of the first day by a mishap which befell the balloonist who makes daily ascents. He made his descent into Rock river and the rope of the parachute got caught about his head so that he was with difficulty rescued from drowning.

WILL LECTURE TO MONDAY CLUB

Miss Kellogg, of Madison, Will Speak on History, During the Coming Winter Months.

Under the auspices of the Monday club, a society of young women of the Congregational church organized for historical and Bible study, Miss Louise P. Kellogg, of Madison, will give a series of twelve lectures on "The Renaissance and The Reformation" during the coming winter.

Miss Kellogg is a former instructor of European history at the University of Wisconsin, but at present holds a position in the state historical library which has forced her to give up her classes in the University. She is thoroughly conversant with the subject on which she is to lecture and it was through the personal friendship of young ladies, who have attended the university that she was induced to direct the historical work of the Monday club this year.

The first lecture in the course, which will be given in the parlors of the Congregational church, will probably be held on the first Monday in November, the following lectures to be given on alternate Monday evenings, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Study Of The Bible
While Miss Kellogg will have charge of the historical work of the Monday club, Mrs. Robert C. Denison, has consented to lead the class in its Scriptural study. Meetings for Bible study will be held on every other Monday evening, alternating with the historical lectures, so that meetings of the club will be held every Monday evening.

Officers Elected
The annual meeting of the club was held in the church club room last evening and Miss Anna Valentine, who served the class efficiently last year, was re-elected as president. Mrs. O. D. Bates was chosen as vice president and Miss Ada Fenton as secretary and treasurer.

Unlimited Membership
The Monday club has always been open to all interested young women, no limit being placed on the membership. This year the invitation to join the club will be made more cordial than ever in order that the rare opportunity afforded by Miss Kellogg's lectures and Mrs. Denison's Bible class may be enjoyed as largely as possible. The club dues, embracing both departments of work, are $1.50 for the year but to accommodate those who care only for the historical work, arrangements have been made by which they can become members of this department of the club only, the dues being $1. The club will be pleased to receive into its membership all who are interested.

COUNCIL MEETS IN NEW ROOMS

The First Session in New Quarters Will Be Held This Evening.

The common council will hold its first meeting this evening in the new chambers in the city hall. Although everything is not yet complete the room is a great improvement over the old one. The lighting fixtures have not yet arrived from Milwaukee but temporary lights will be installed for this meeting.

Mayor's Desk
The mayor's desk is much more pretentious than the old one and is approached by a flight of steps on either end. The city clerk and city attorney will have a handsome table directly in front of the mayor. The aldermen have individual desks and spring chairs of handsome design and are a great improvement over the old table desks in use in the old chambers.

A table for the reporters has been placed in one corner of the room where they can have a front view of all the proceedings.

For The Spectators
Back of the aldermen is an oak railing dividing them from the public standing room. No one will be allowed inside the railing but the mayor, aldermen, city officials and reporters.

A number of handsome chairs have been provided for the spectators outside the railing. The new council room with its adjacent offices will fill a long felt want on the part of the council.

Little Business
About the only business of importance to come before the council this evening is the consideration of bids for the macadamizing of Wall, Marion, North Franklin, North High and Harrison streets. There is very little doubt but that the bid made by Brown & Connors will be accepted.

Unique Program: Those who attend the social to be given by the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church in the church parlors this evening, will enjoy a unique program in which all kinds of surprises are promised. After the program a reception will be given in honor of the artists who have contributed to the entertainment. Light refreshments will be served and the friends of the society are cordially invited.

No Golf: On account of the bad weather the first round of match play at golf for the Valentine medal for ladies, to be played this afternoon, was postponed until the last of the week. The match will probably be played on Friday, if that day is satisfactory to the contestants. On account of getting the match started so late in the season the games will have to be played as soon as possible in order to get it finished before cold weather sets in.

BELOIT FOOTBALL PROSPECTS GOOD

COACH HOLLISTER HAS HIS MEN OUT FOR WORK.

TEAM LOSES BUT TWO PLAYERS

Outlook Is Bright for the Congregationalists for the Coming Season.

The first foot ball practice of the Beloit college team of 1902 was held at Keep field this afternoon. Coach Hollister was delighted with the showing of the candidates and is confident that Beloit will be represented by a fine team this year.

All the old varsity men are back in the game except Ed. Merrill and Bunge. To fill their places is a hard matter but there is a wealth of good material to choose from. The team is light, but offsets it by remarkable "ginger" in the play. Never has there been a team at Beloit so quick to get into plays and made up of men of such endurance.

In the line this afternoon Hankon, Slater, Little, Calland, Wheeler, Booth, Burke and Al Merrill were tried out. Back of the line were Capt. Carroll Smith at full, "Pete" Cronk, McRae, Partridge, Mills and Cummings. Cronk, Al Merrill, Slater and McRae played like fends and are going to play the game of their lives this year.

The team needs only one good man to make it equal to those of former years—a center rush. Coach Hollister is in correspondence with at least three good men, and it seems likely that before many days have passed a 200-pounder will be added to the line.

The first game will be played on the eleventh of October with Minnesota at Minneapolis. On the 18th Beloit meets her old foe, Wisconsin, at Milwaukee.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER.

Chicago, September 23. My advices during this week were so conflicting as regards the condition of the growing crop of corn and the extent of the damage done by the late frosts that I am anxious to find out the exact state of affairs in the principal corn producing sections, and I will thank you to advise me by return mail if any damage was done, what proportion of the crop in your section was caught by frost and whether or not you think the crop in bushels has been over or underestimated. I have

was still growing when it was caught by frost, must have been materially injured, and I cannot remember of a year when as late as the middle of September, corn was in that condition. I want to be kept fully advised, as there are possibilities in the corn market within the next few months that are out of the ordinary, for that reason, and so that I may be able to advise my customers reliably, I make this inquiry.

The wheat market fluctuated within a narrow range during the week, but the undertone was strong. Values at the close yesterday were higher than the previous week, and the character of the buying was of the best. More outside trade was noticed than we have had for some time, but we need considerable more to take the market out of the present rut and start a permanent advance. My correspondence, however, indicates an increased interest in grain speculation among the general public, just as they are experiencing in cotton. I believe in a short time general speculation will divert largely from stocks to grain, and I find there are many ready to take hold of December or May wheat at around or under 70c, believing a considerable advance and not much decline is probable from that level. There is no question but that December and May wheat are selling at fictitious low prices compared with the price of September and cash wheat. If September wheat is worth over 73c here and cash wheat is worth even more than that, there is no reason why December wheat should not sell at that or higher. No. 1 northern spring wheat, the kind we are told is going to give us lower prices, is worth here about 8c per bushel over the price of December wheat, and No. 2 Red, the only other kind deliverable on contracts, is about 4c a bushel over December wheat. This is the actual value of the wheat for milling purposes, which verifies what in elevators here, with a short increase in the market so large it would be hard to make a guess on the amount, and there is no telling how high the market might go if the shorts attempted to cover or were forced to cover, as I believe they will be. The market may fluctuate around the present level for a little while longer, but an advance looks inevitable to me and will come, as it usually does, when no one is expecting it. Once it gets under way and the market has advanced 3c to 5c a bushel, there will be plenty of buyers and the momentum will carry it still higher. Since December wheat sold at 65 1/2c on August 11th nearly every advance we have had has been a little higher than the previous bulge, and every break has not extended quite so far as the one previous, which the history of speculation will show is a forerunner and bears the ear marks of a bull market. The next time December wheat gets up to 7c, I expect to see it go through there easily, and I would advise buying some now and the first time it crosses 70c double your line and hold for a good profit. There is a great demand for wheat everywhere, as is shown by premiums being paid, and late California advices are of the same tenor, wheat there being higher than in Chicago, whereas a year ago it was 10c a bushel lower. Duluth continues to ship large quantities, and is selling an immense amount of wheat to go abroad, preventing an accumulation in the Northwest. Exports for the week were again very large, showing a total of 5,435,000 bu, compared with 3,310,000 bu same week a year ago, and 3,526,000 bu same week two years ago. Since July first the total exports have been 55,537,000 bu. Nevertheless, the bears have argued that crops abroad are so good we will not export anything like we did a year ago. For months we have heard that we would not export over 150,000,000 bu from July 1st 1902 to July 1st 1903. We have already exported over one-third of that amount in less than three months. If that ratio is kept up there will be an awakening in the bear camp equal to one year ago. The greater proportion of the winter wheat crop has been marketed without any accumulation anywhere, and the winter wheat remaining is of the better quality, which will be eagerly sought for by millers, so there is no need now to fear an accumulation from that end. The northwestern millers will take care of the good wheat in that section, and I will repeat what I said in one of my letters a few weeks ago, that I do not think the visible supply will increase to much over 35,000,000 bu, which was about the maximum reached from the crop of 1895, which up to that time was the largest ever raised. There is only one thing needed to put December wheat over 75c, and carry it up to 80c or higher, and that is a material increase in the outside trade, which I hope to see within the next thirty days.

advices from reliable parties in many sections which indicate that considerable damage was done on high as well as low lands. They are a unit in saying the crop was overestimated and very uneven. I have also received some samples during the week from sections—and I will add not from the extreme northern states—showing corn still in the milk and a number wrote me that corn had not even denting when the frost struck it. Others, from almost the same territory, report the corn beyond all damage. It is unnecessary for me to say that corn which was so late that it

The oat market was really the weakest of all grains. There continues a liberal amount of poor oats on the market from day to day, most of which, however, by handling and mixing are made good enough to supply the requirements of the consumers and they are being taken by shippers in preference to the better varieties which are bringing fancy prices. Private elevators of late have been able to make amount of Standard oats out of the better varieties of No. 3 White and No. 4 White coming in, and that has eased up the September situation materially. I think oats will hardly advance relatively with wheat and corn, but at around 31c December and May oats look cheap enough.

The provision market was rather heavy most of the week. October pork had quite a slump on Wednesday and is gradually finding its natural level. The feature of the week was the selling on Thursday by one house of a line of 10,000 barrels of pork for July, August and September delivery, 1903, at $14.00, followed on Friday by another sale at the same price for October, 1903, delivery, some one evidently believing that price will look high when the time comes. This is possible, but the ruling price for corn during the coming winter and next summer will determine that. With corn around 40c in Chicago, or 30c on the farm in western Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas, $14.00 pork is too high. Either corn must advance or pork decline. I have been rather bullish on provisions for some time, but should corn sell up to where indications are it will, January or May product or the later months are not too high. I would not, however, advise buying pork, lard or ribs, excepting on the very weak spots and then for quick turns only. On teh bulges I believe you can safely sell provisions, and against such sales would advise buying May corn.

The News From County Towns.

CLINTON

Clinton, Sept. 23.—The marriage of Miss Caroline Wilner and John Schwartz was celebrated Wednesday evening, Sept. 17th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilner. At eight o'clock the wedding march was played by Mrs. Alice Inman, and the bride party appeared, preceded by the Rev. T. J. Parsons. The party took their places in the bay window, which had been fantastically transformed into a beautiful bower of green and white, partially hidden by lace curtains draped between which they took their positions and were pronounced husband and wife in the presence of about one hundred friends and relatives. The house decorations were elaborate, the parlor being done in yellow and green, the sitting room in white and green and the dining room in pink. Friends were present from Beloit and vicinity, Darlen and other places. The young people are held in high esteem by their many friends. They go to housekeeping immediately on J. F. Kemmerer's farm, near Shopshire, where they have the best wishes for future happiness. The presents were especially fine including furniture, rugs, sewing machine, a beautiful china set of dishes, besides many silver pieces and choice bric-a-brac.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Tuttle issued invitations to their numerous friends for Saturday evening, to meet the Rev. Wm. Kelvey and his bride who were married at Hartford, Wis., the latter part of August, and who have the appointment as missionaries to India, leaving for their destination in October. Mrs. McKelvey, nee Mary Morgan, was a teacher in the high school during the year 1900 and 1901 and by her strong personality and accomplishments won many admirers. During the evening in behalf of the friends, presented her with a valuable violin, as a token of appreciation of her musical gift, and later on she was called upon to favor the company with some music upon the instrument, to which she gracefully responded, being accompanied upon the piano by Mrs. Bullong. Mrs. Marcella Holmes of Milton, also entertained the guests by some violin solos. Golden rod and flowers were used in abundance as decorations. Ice cream and cake were served in the dining room, after which the company dispersed wishing the bride and groom all the best things possible for them in their distant field of labor for the spread of the gospel. Mr. and Mrs. Titus and Karl Morgan, brother of the bride were present.

On Friday evening the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Helmer in Bradford, was filled with guests in response to the invitation for a six o'clock tea. Over one hundred persons, mostly from Clinton, were seated at small tables which were placed in the different rooms and served to a most appetizing collection of eatables, faultlessly served. Mrs. Helmer was assisted by Mrs. Cronkite, Mrs. Phillips and the Misses Helen and Grace Helmer. The flowers were the bright nasturtiums. The home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers. The latter part of the evening was given up to social intercourse, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music by Mesdames Schaub, Inman and Loveland, and the delightful five-mile ride home in the moonlight made a fitting climax to the most enjoyable evening.

Life at Stake

Somewhere in the world life is at stake every minute of the day. Right at our own doors, perhaps, is going on a struggle as grim and fierce as any fight or flight on record. You hear the hollow tearing cough; see the ooze of blood which tells of the wounded lungs; mark the emaciated body and hectic cheek, and know a life is at stake.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has saved many a life in just such a crisis. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, stops the hemorrhage, strengthens "weak" lungs, and restores the emaciated body to its normal weight and strength.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"I desire to send you this brief, unsolicited testimonial," writes Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Barham Springs, Fredt Co., N. C. "In 1898 one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, hectic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs. I promptly gave her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with gratifying success, and she now enjoys excellent health. This experience caused me to recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to my neighbors, who, without exception, used them with favorable results."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, or if cloth bound volume is desired send 31 stamps.

Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MISS KENT ENTERTAINS

Gives Pretty Party in Honor of Miss Ruth Culver

Last evening in her pleasant home in the La Vista flats, Miss Lou Kent entertained very charmingly in honor of her friend, Miss Ruth Culver, whose marriage to Frank Sanner is to be celebrated next Saturday. The company was not a large one, the guests including young ladies and gentlemen who are intimate friends of the prospective bride and groom. The evening was devoted to playing progressive four-handed euchre, Miss Iacine Bostwick winning the prize. Later an elegant two course luncheon was served in the dining room, the guests being waited on by Mrs. George Crane and Mrs. Grant Colvin.

LITTLE ONE'S HEAD TOO HEAVY

New Jersey Doctor Proposes to Puncture Skull to Reduce It.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 23.—The seventeen-months-old child of Henry Ulckl is having the size of its head reduced. She cannot lift her head up when lying down, and when she attempts to creep the weight of her head causes her to fall on it. When the child was born its head measured 23½ inches in circumference. Dr. Thomas Komarowski, by pressure of iron bands has reduced the circumference an inch. The doctor has obtained the parents' consent to puncture the child's skull, by which operation it is believed relief can be obtained.
